BACKGROUND

Election

- This is the second Local Government (LG) general election under section 85 of the Local Government Act (LGA). Amendments to the LGA deferred the election from March 2016 to August 2017. LG general elections are now held 12 months after the Legislative Assembly (LA) election.
- This is the first LG general election that all electors had the option to vote by post or vote early. This was due to legislative change that removed the criteria to lodge an early or postal vote.
- The Commissioner of the Northern Territory Electoral Commission (NTEC) is the returning officer for local government general elections.
- Electronic mark-off system (eLAPPS) was used at all voting centres.
- An election charter detailing the NTEC's service commitments was finalised on 16 May 2017 and sent to the council. The document was also available on the NTEC website.
- A Service Level Agreement (SLA) between the Barkly Regional Council and the NTEC was entered into on 18 April 2017. This outlined both organisations' roles, responsibilities, election services and costs.

Council

Barkly Regional Council consists of four wards: Alpururulam, Alyawarr, Kuwarrangu and Patta. The council comprises one elected President and 12 elected council members. This includes one elected council member from Alpururulam Ward, four elected council members from Alyawarr Ward, two elected council members from Kuwarrangu Ward and five elected council members from Patta Ward.

As per the SLA, Barkly Regional Council provided/undertook the following for the 2017 NT council elections:

- A council building and staff to undertake early voting services in Tennant Creek
- Council owned accommodation and premises in Ampilatwatja and Elliott
- Promotion of the election via Barkly Regional Council's social media outlets
- Council staff as community assistants during remote mobile voting
- Three council staff as remote team members
- One council 4WD for use on a remote mobile voting team
- An electoral roll cleansing exercise.

Boundary changes

In accordance with section 9 (1) (f) of the Act a submission was received to change the name of the Yapakurlangu Ward to Kuwarrangu Ward. This was completed in May 2017. No further boundary changes were implemented from the previous election.

ENROLMENT

An electoral roll cleanse project was conducted from March until June in the wards of Alpururulam, Alyawarr and Kuwarrangu. The project identified a number of deceased and duplicated electors that were removed from the electoral roll. This contributed to the decline in enrolment numbers from the 2012 General elections.

At the close of the electoral roll on Tuesday 25 July at 5:00 pm, there were a total of 4,264 electors enrolled for the Barkly Regional Council. This was a decrease of 1.4 per cent on the enrolment of 4,324 at the 2012 General elections.

Barkly Regional Council enrolment numbers by ward

COUNCIL	WARD	ENROLMENT
Barkly Regional Council	Alpururulam	214
	Alyawarr	1,602
	Kuwarrangu	487
	Patta	1,961
TOTAL		4,264

PUBLIC AWARENESS

Campaign

The public awareness campaign for the 2017 NT Council elections included enrolment and voting information (early, postal, remote and election day) disseminated across social media, television, radio, councils, LGANT, the Department of Housing and Community Development, as well as print and digital platforms. The public awareness campaign began in May and intensified from 30 June until election day on Saturday 26 August.

Website

The 2017 NT Council elections website was launched in early June and this provided comprehensive information for candidates and voters. It also hosted dedicated election results pages, included details on vote counting, and showed all remote, early and election day voting centre information. The website remains live for a number of months following the election.

Newsletter

An election newsletter was emailed regularly to stakeholders including councils and candidates, from 5 May with the final newsletter emailed on 27 August. A total of 12 newsletters and five supplementary emails were sent during this period. The newsletters were also available on the NTEC website with links shared on Facebook and Twitter.

Advertising – print, radio, television

Three advertisements were developed for airing on television, radio, YouTube, Facebook and Twitter: enrol and close of roll (15 secs); early, election day and formal voting (15 secs and 30 secs). The audio versions of these advertisements were interpreted into nine Aboriginal languages and aired across the Northern Territory through the radio stations appropriate to the language group. These advertisements were also available on the NTEC website, NTEC's YouTube channel and were heavily promoted through social media.

Print advertising promoting enrolment and providing election information appeared in the Rural Weekly, NT News and Off the Leash magazine.

Online promotion of these ads also took place with the Rural Weekly, Alice Springs News and Off the Leash. There was also an extensive digital marketing campaign about enrolment, postal and early voting, election day and formal voting that ran from 7 June through to election day, 26 August.

Posters promoting enrolment, nominations and voting were made available to Barkly Regional Council to assist in informing electors about the 2017 NT Council elections. Statutory print advertising providing specific voting information was published in the Tennant and District Times and the NT News.

The Electoral Commissioner also promoted enrolment and voting through 39 interviews with Northern Territory media including ABC Darwin and Alice Springs, Channel Nine, Territory FM, MIX104.9, Aboriginal Broadcasting Network, CAAMA radio and the NT News.

Call centre

A call centre was established on Wednesday 2 August and ran until Monday 28 August. Staff assisted electors with a variety of election enquiries during this period.

Email and SMS was used to contact Barkly Regional Council electors, whom had provided these details on their enrolment form. Across the Northern Territory, 30,000 emails were sent advising electors of early and election-day voting centres. There were also SMSs with mobile voting information sent to 20 communities.

VOTING SERVICES

Electronic voter mark-off

An electronic voter mark-off system is now used in all voting centres across the Northern Territory. The system records when someone has voted anywhere in the NT in real time. The voter mark-off system also alleviates the necessity to have paper certified lists therefore improving efficiencies in voting centres when finding voters on the electoral roll.

Early voting centre

Legislative changes in 2015 allows all electors the option to vote early without the need to meet any eligibility criteria. Overall there is a trend towards voting early across the Northern Territory.

Early voting services were provided in the Civic Hall at Barkly Regional Council from 14 August to 25 August 2017 (including Saturday 19 August). Votes for Barkly Regional Council were also taken at other early voting centres across the Territory.

ELECTION

Voting

The voting system for local government elections is Proportional Representation (PR):

- Electors must number all the boxes on their ballot paper sequentially starting with the number one for their first choice.
- First preference votes for each candidate on formal ballot papers are counted, then a quota is calculated.
- The quota is the total number of formal ballot papers plus one, divided by the number of vacancies.
- The candidates with votes equal to or greater than the quota are elected. If all vacancies are filled, the election is complete.
- If not, preferences are distributed to the other candidates until all vacancies have been filled.

To learn more about the PR system, go to the vote counting page on the NTEC website.

Vote counting – election night

Immediately after the close of voting at 6:00pm on election day, there was:

- a count of the first preference votes at each voting centre
- a count of the first preference votes for early/mobile and postal votes.

Post-election night scrutinies

A recheck of votes from voting centres was undertaken during the week after election day, followed by a count of declaration, absent and further postal votes.

Vote counting for the President position was completed manually and votes received for the Barkly Regional Council Ward councillor positions were entered into an electronic count system (Easy count) and then re-entered for verification purposes.

Voters that applied for a postal vote were expected to complete their ballot papers by 6:00 pm on election day, Saturday 26 August 2017. Postal ballot papers then had to be received by the NTEC by 12:00 noon, Friday 1 September to be included in the count.

Determination of the quota and the distribution of preferences took place after the cut-off for the return of postal vote ballot papers. Election results were made available on the results pages of the website on Friday, 1 September 2017.

Election costs

The SLA estimated the cost of the election for Barkly Regional Council to be $96,705. Following the election, the costs were $77,257 with a difference of $19,448. This was due to the council off-setting various costs along with Alyawarr Ward not going to election.

Summary of election costs

Public awareness	$20,199
Staffing	$30,938
Premises	$0.00
Operational costs	$26,120
TOTAL	$77,257

ISSUES OF NOTE

Remote voting

- There is a need to improve the communications with council during the planning phase of remote voting.
- There's a requirement to improve the awareness of potential events in remote communities that may occur during the election period as this can affect turnout in communities where electors are away attending these events.

Returning officer located in Tennant Creek

- There is a requirement for a Returning Officer (RO) to be permanently based in Tennant Creek during the election period. Having a RO based in Tennant Creek would be highly beneficial in dealing with technical problems, act as support for the Officer-in-Charge of the voting centre as well as deal with complaints and oversee counts.

Informality

In the post-election phase, once the 21 day period for objections had expired, a survey of informal ballot papers for Barkly Regional Council Mayor, Alpurrurulam Ward, Kuwarrangu Ward and Patta Ward was conducted.

- A total of 126 informal votes were received for the councillor positions and 138 for the President position. During the informality survey it was identified that 46 per cent of votes for councillor were considered intentionally informal. The remaining 54 per cent were considered unintentionally informal, of which most had duplicated numbers or were incomplete.
- The survey identified that 41 per cent of votes for President were considered intentionally informal. The remaining 59 per cent were considered unintentionally informal, of which most had duplicated numbers on the ballot paper.
- The high number of unintentional informal ballot papers could be attributed to the large number of candidates (12) where voters either duplicated numbers or missed the sequence. The NTEC attempted to assist voters in casting a formal vote by advising electors that all boxes must be numbered sequentially.

We would like to extend our thanks for the support received from Stephen Dawkins from Barkly Regional Council.
