BACKGROUND

Election

- This is the second Local Government (LG) general election under section 85 of the Local Government Act (LGA). Amendments to the LGA deferred the election from March 2016 to August 2017. LG general elections are held 12 months after the Legislative Assembly (LA) elections.
- This is the first LG general election that all electors had the option to vote by post or vote early. This was due to legislative change that removed the criteria to lodge an early or postal vote.
- The Commissioner of the Northern Territory Electoral Commission (NTEC) is the returning officer for local government general elections.
- Brian McKivat was appointed Deputy Returning Officer for the Roper Gulf Regional Council, 2017 NT Council elections.
- Electronic mark-off system (eLAPPS) was used at all voting centres.
- An election charter detailing the NTEC's service commitments was finalised on 4 May 2017 and made available on the website.
- A Service Level Agreement (SLA) between the Roper Gulf Regional Council and the NTEC was entered into on 22 June 2017. This outlined both organisations' roles, responsibilities, election services and costs.

Council

Roper Gulf Regional Council consists of five wards: Never Never, Numbulwar Numburindi, Nyirranggulung, South West Gulf and Yugul Mangi.

The council comprises 13 elected council members across the five wards; three elected councillors from Never Never Ward, two elected councillors from Numbulwar Numburindi Ward, three elected councillors from Nyirranggulung Ward, three elected councillors from South West Gulf Ward and two elected councillors from Yugul Mangi Ward.

As per the SLA, Roper Gulf Regional Council provided/undertook the following for the 2017 NT Council elections.

- Voting premises in Bulman, Weemol, Beswick, Barunga, Numbulwar, Mataranka, Minyerri, Jilkminggan, Werenbun, Manyallaluk, and Borroloola.
- Promotion of the election through social media and council sites.
- Council staff as community assistants during remote mobile voting.
- An electoral roll cleansing exercise.

Boundary changes

There were no gazetted changes to the boundaries resulting from the 2015 review of electoral representation.

Enrolment

Enrolment initiatives specific to Roper Gulf Regional Council included an electoral roll cleansing project that commenced in March and concluded in June in the following communities: Bulman, Weemol, Beswick, Barunga, Numbulwar, Borroloola, Minyerri, Jilkminggan, and Manyallaluk. The project identified a number of deceased and duplicated electors that were removed from the electoral roll.

At the close of the electoral roll on Tuesday 25 July at 5:00 pm, there were a total of 3,952 electors enrolled for Roper Gulf Regional Council. This was a 2.5 per cent increase from the 2012 General elections.

PUBLIC AWARENESS

Campaign

The public awareness campaign for the 2017 NT Council elections included enrolment and voting information (early, postal, remote and election day) disseminated across social media, television, radio, councils, LGANT, the Department of Housing and Community Development, as well as print and digital platforms. The public awareness campaign began in May and intensified from 30 June until election day on Saturday 26 August.

Website

The 2017 NT Council elections website was launched in early June and this provided comprehensive information for candidates and voters. It also hosted dedicated election results pages, included details on vote counting, and showed all remote, early and election day voting centre information. The website remains live for a number of months following the election.

Newsletter

An election newsletter was emailed regularly to stakeholders including councils and candidates, from 5 May with the final newsletter emailed on 27 August. In total, 12 newsletters and five supplementary emails were sent during this period. The newsletters were also available on the NTEC website with links shared on Facebook and Twitter.

Advertising – print, radio, television

Three advertisements were developed for airing on television, radio, YouTube, Facebook and Twitter: enrol and close of roll (15 secs); early, election day and formal voting (15 secs and 30 secs). The audio versions of these advertisements were interpreted into nine Aboriginal languages and aired across the Northern Territory through the radio stations appropriate to the language group. These advertisements were also available on the NTEC website, NTEC's YouTube channel and were heavily promoted through social media.

Print advertising promoting enrolment and providing election information appeared in the Rural Weekly, NT News and Off the Leash magazine.

Online promotion of these ads also took place with the Rural Weekly, Alice Springs News and Off the Leash. There was also an extensive digital marketing campaign about enrolment, postal and early voting, election day and formal voting that ran from 7 June through to election day, 26 August.

Posters promoting enrolment and voting information were made available to Roper Gulf Regional Council to assist in informing electors about the 2017 NT Council elections.

Statutory print advertising providing specific voting information was published in the Katherine Times and the NT News.

The Electoral Commissioner also promoted enrolment and the election participation through 39 interviews with Northern Territory media including ABC Darwin and Alice Springs, Channel Nine, Territory FM, MIX104.9, Aboriginal Broadcasting Network, CAAMA radio and the NT News.

Voting

The voting system for local government elections is Proportional Representation (PR):

- Electors must number all the boxes on their ballot paper sequentially starting with the number one for their first choice.
- First preference votes for each candidate on formal ballot papers are counted, then a quota is calculated.
- The quota is the total number of formal ballot papers plus one, divided by the number of vacancies.
- The candidates with votes equal to or greater than the quota are elected. If all vacancies are filled, the election is complete.
- If not, preferences are distributed to the other candidates until all vacancies have been filled.

To learn more about the PR system, go to the vote counting page on the NTEC website.

Vote counting - election night

Immediately after the close of voting at 6:00pm on election day, there was a count of first preference votes for early/mobile and postal votes. These counts were conducted at the Darwin scrutiny centre.

Post-election night scrutinies

A recheck of votes was undertaken during the week after election day, followed by a count of declaration, absent and further postal votes.

All votes received for the Roper Gulf Regional Councillor positions were entered into an electronic count system (Easy count) and then re-entered for verification purposes.

Voters that applied for a postal vote were expected to complete their ballot papers by 6:00 pm on election day, Saturday 26 August 2017. Postal ballot papers then had to be received by 12:00 noon, Friday 1 September to be included in the count.

Determination of the quota and the distribution of preferences took place after the cut-off for the return of postal vote ballot papers. Election results were made available on the results pages of the website on Friday, 1 September 2017.

ISSUES OF NOTE

Voter participation

- A matter for further discussion and research is the reasoning behind low voter turnout. The number of candidates contesting the various ward elections was promising; however, the same level of interest didn't flow through to electors, resulting in only 39 per cent voting.

Informality

In the post-election phase, once the 21-day period for objections had expired, a survey of informal ballot papers for Roper Gulf Regional Council was conducted.

- A total of 60 informal votes were received across all wards. During the informality survey it was identified that 88 per cent were deemed unintentionally informal, of which most had duplicated numbers or were incomplete. The remaining 12 per cent were blank ballot papers.
- Of the total 60 informal votes cast across all wards, 88 per cent were assumed unintentional as they had duplicated numbers or hadn't completed numbers in all boxes. The remaining 12 per cent were blank ballot papers. The Nyirranggulung Ward had a higher rate of informal votes, likely due to a higher number of candidates on the ballot paper.
